

```

1  <!DOCTYPE html> <!-- Declares it as a HTML file -->
2  <html> <!-- Declares HTML as the root element -->
3
4  <head> <!-- <head> contains the metadata, style and title -->
5
6      <title>Weather Report</title> <!-- Declares the title -->
7
8      <style>
9          body {
10             font-family: Arial, sans-serif;
11             background-color: #87CEFA; /* Light blue sky */
12             text-align: center;
13             padding: 50px; <!--Sets the page's font, background color, text alignment, and padding -->
14         }
15         .weather-box {
16             background-color: #FFFAFD; /* Light yellow */
17             border-radius: 10px;
18             padding: 20px;
19             display: inline-block;
20             box-shadow: 5px 5px 10px rgba(0, 0, 0, 0.2); <!--Sets the box design -->
21         }
22         h1 {
23             color: #333; <!--Sets colour of heading -->
24         }
25     <!--class names start with . -->
26     .temperature {
27         font-size: 24px;
28         font-weight: bold; <!--Styles the temperature section -->
29     }
30     .condition {
31         font-style: italic;
32         color: #008080; /* Teal */ <!--Styles the condition section -->
33     }
34 </style>
35
36 </head> <!-- closes the head -->
37
38 <body> <!-- displays content visible to user -->
39     <h1>☀ Weather Report ☁</h1>
40      <!--
41         City: London <!--  is a paragrap, this line displays the city to be bold-->
42         Temperature: 15°C
43         Condition: Cloudy ☁
44      <!--div is closed -->
45 </body> <!--body is closed -->
46 </html> <!--HTML is closed -->
47
48 <!-- This is a comment in HTML -->

```

☀ Weather Report ☁

City: London

Temperature: 15°C

Condition: Cloudy ☁