

```

package main //ChatGPT was used in this code to help me gain knowledge and insight on GO import ( "bufio" //Reads input from the user "encoding/json" //Results will be in JSON format "fmt" //Used to print outputs "os" //Accesses operating system "strings" //The data type that im working with ) func main() { //Where the code runs //Static weather data weatherData :=

map[string]map[string]string{ // := declares and assigns variable "london": {"temperature": "15°C",
"condition": "Cloudy"}, "new york": {"temperature": "20°C", "condition": "Sunny"}, "tokyo": {"temperature":
"18°C", "condition": "Rainy"}, "paris": {"temperature": "17°C", "condition": "Partly Cloudy"}, } // Keys are thecity and each city maps to weather info

reader := bufio.NewReader(os.Stdin) // os.Stdin and bufio reads user input fmt.Print("Enter a city: ") //Shows a message asking for users input city, _ := reader.ReadString('\n') // _ ignores error value
city = strings.TrimSpace(city) //removes: newline characters (\n), carriage returns (\r) and trailing spaces

if data, exists := weatherData[city]; exists { //Checks to see if user input exists in the mini database
    response := map[string]string{
        "city":      strings.Title(city), //Capitalises each letter from the word
        "temperature": data["temperature"],
        "condition":  data["condition"], //Prints out the details if found
    }
    jsonResp, _ := json.MarshalIndent(response, "", " ") //MarshalIndent is a function used to convert GO into JSON fmt.Println(string(jsonResp)) //Prints details } else {
    errorResp := map[string]string{"error": "City not found"}
    jsonError, _ := json.MarshalIndent(errorResp, "", " ")
    fmt.Println(string(jsonError)) //Error handling
}

}

```

```

1 package main
2 //ChatGPT was used in this code to help me gain knowledge and insight on GO
3
4 import (
5     "bufio" //Reads input from the user
6     "encoding/json" //Results will be in JSON format
7     "fmt" //Used to print outputs
8     "os" //Accesses operating system
9     "strings" //The data type that im working with 10 )
11
12 func main() { //Where the code runs
13     //Static weather data
14     weatherData := map[string]map[string]string{ // := declares and assigns variable
15         "london": {"temperature": "15°C", "condition": "Cloudy"},
16         "new york": {"temperature": "20°C", "condition": "Sunny"},
17         "tokyo": {"temperature": "18°C", "condition": "Rainy"},
18         "paris": {"temperature": "17°C", "condition": "Partly Cloudy"},
19     } // Keys are thecity and each city maps to weather info
20
21     reader := bufio.NewReader(os.Stdin) // os.Stdin and bufio reads user input
22     fmt.Print("Enter a city: ") //Shows a message asking for users input
23     city, _ := reader.ReadString('\n') // _ ignores error value
24     city = strings.TrimSpace(city) //removes: newline characters (\n), carriage returns (\r) and trailing spaces
25
26
27     if data, exists := weatherData[city]; exists { //Checks to see if user input exists in the mini database
28         response := map[string]string{
29             "city": strings.Title(city), //Capitalises each letter from the word
30             "temperature": data["temperature"],
31             "condition": data["condition"], //Prints out the details if found
32         }
33         jsonResp, _ := json.MarshalIndent(response, "", " ") //MarshalIndent is a function used to convert GO into JSON
34         fmt.Println(string(jsonResp)) //Prints details
35     } else {
36         errorResp := map[string]string{"error": "City not found"}
37         jsonError, _ := json.MarshalIndent(errorResp, "", " ")
38         fmt.Println(string(jsonError)) //Error handling
39     }
40 }

```

```

Enter a city: tokyo
{
  "city": "Tokyo",
  "condition": "Rainy",
  "temperature": "18°C"
}

```

=== Code Execution Successful ===